GRANGES IN NEVADA.

Under the above head-line the Silver State has the following original views relative to the Granger Movement in Nevada. We move to strike out all the incidental and extraneous abuse of the Republican party contained therein and that the matter thus divested of its incredibilities and chaff be referred to a committee of the whole. Says the S. S.:

The Reno Journal is credibly informed that the farmers of Washoe county have taken the initiatory steps to organize a Grange. The Journal is particularly pleased that its recommendations and suggestions favoring such an organization have received the favorable consideration of those for whose benefit they were intended. The Republicans are evidently endeavoring to control the new organization. By creating monopolies and giving them almost unlimited powers, they have caused the necessity which calls for united action on the part of farmers. But high rates of freights, however oppressive they may be considered by agriculturists in the Western States and California, where the products of the farm are transported to the seaboard, are just what the farmers of Nevada desire. In this State labor is high, and artificial irrigation is necessary to make the soil productive. Farmers, therefore, like the iron manufacturers of Pennsylvania, and the woolen manufacturers of many of the States, require a protective tariff to enable them to compete in markets along the railroad with the producers of California and Utah. As the Republican party does not legislate for the farming interests as favorably as it does for manufacturers, because that interest does not exchange greenbacks for votes in Congress, agriculture is not protected by a high tariff. In this State that protection is afforded by the high rates of transportation on the railroad, and the farmers have a home market, with fair prices, in the mining towns of the State for all their products. Here barley and flour command much higher prices than in California or Utah. Reduce freight on the railroad and the result is a corresponding reduction in the market value of these products, as the California producer would compete with the home producer in every mining camp within reasonable distance of the railroad. The farmers of Nevada cannot, therefore, make common cause with the Grangers of California against the Central Pacific Railroad. High rates of freight on agricultural products is just what they want, as it prevents competition. In this State it is the mining interest that suffers from exorbitant rates of transportation. Miners are the consumers, and it is their pockets that are depleted by high rates of freight. The farmers of this State produce nothing that could be shipped to the seaboard with profit, at the lowest possible rates of transportation. Miners do, however, and they, together with the cattle men, who ship beef to California, are the persons particularly interested in the reduction of freight rates on the railroad and the defeat of the party that fosters monopolies.

THE CHRONICLE GIFT MAP.—The following, which is from a lithograph letter received yesterday explains itself:

CIRCULATION DEPARTMENT
SAN FRANCISCO CHRONICLE.
502 MONTGOMERY STREET.
Rooms 8, 9, & 10, Third Floor.
SAN FRANCISCO, Dec 8th, 1873.
To the Editor of the "Appeal," Carson City.

Dear Sir: We send you by mail with our compliments, a copy of the "Chronicle Gift Map" which is presented to every subscriber of the "Daily."

As a great deal has been said by some of our contemporaries about this map, we should be pleased if you would examine, and give it such notice in your columns, as you may think its merits deserve. We have already distributed over 30,000 copies of it.

Very truly yours,
CHAS. DE YOUNG & Co.

The localities on this map with which we are best acquainted seem to be quite as distinctly and correctly designated as one could expect in a map of its size and cheapness of execution. It is a convenient thing of reference, and its wide distribution is a proof of the enterprise of the Chronicle people.

HIRAM COMAS and J. B. Buckner, convicted of highway robbery in the District Court for Humboldt county have been sentenced to the State Prison for five years apiece. Their pal, David Ebi, turned State's evidence against them. When will robbers learn the fallacy of the old axiom "there is honor among thieves?"

THERE is an American ship on shore near Elsinore, Denmark. The name reminds one of the welcome given by the melancholy Dane, as well as of his "trip in a government ship," what time he fooled Messrs. Rosenkrantz and Guildenstern and got them transported to English inhumanity.

THE BACK-PAY STEAL.

The telegraph informs us that the bill for the repeal of the back-pay steal was up for consideration in the House yesterday. The gist of the discussion, as reported, leads us to believe that the measure must necessarily fail. Various reasons are assigned for hanging on to the plunder. Kendall of Nevada, among the rest, has a word to say in favor of keeping the swag. He takes the same broad ground assumed by Butler, Carpenter, and others to wit, that the increase of salary is but just, in view of the abolition of the franking privilege, mileage, etc. We rather like these men for the bold stand they have taken—their audacity challenges admiration—but the sneak who voted for the steal, and then, finding the thing unpopular, sought to restore his ill-gotten gains to the Treasury, is not to be touched with a forty-foot pole. Such a man will steal whenever an opportunity presents itself. Those who show a disposition to stand by their colors may at least lay claim to courage and honesty of purpose. Right or wrong, for the sake of decency and consistency, a man never ought to go back on himself.—Eureka Sentinel.

This is the manful view of this matter; and this is the view that the people, or the sound-thinking mass of them, also take of it. We don't mean that we agree with the Sentinel that "The Back-pay Steal" is a merited epithet for the Increase of Salary Bill; but we do mean to indorse the general terms with which our contemporary vents his scorn upon the slinks who, so soon as a clatter was raised about their ears by the satanic press, got frightened and made a virtue of returning their salaries to the Treasury. As the meanest and most despicable men known in the Credit Mobilier developments were Patterson the liar, and Colfax the hypocrite and sneak, so does it become apparent that the meanest men known to this Increase of Salary Business are the fellows whose greed was overcome by their cowardice.

MARSHAL WILLIAM GOVERNOR MORRIS has been broken of his office for his supercilious conduct in dealing with the Sunrise sailors. They were witnesses, merely, and being detained in order that their evidence might be had they were marched thro' the streets of San Francisco like a chain gang—all in handcuffs and shackles. Attorney General Williams took a look into the matter and got Mr. Morris razed and one Marcel has appointed in his place.

MARSHAL BAZAINE's sentence has been commuted to a 20 years' seclusion without degradation from rank. He will be cooped up in the Island of San Marguerite, off Cannons. This is a long way better than to be transmogrified into a demmed moist corpse, you know.

ONE Ward, an emotional snail of San Francisco, has been caught practicing gunnery with a six-shooter, on his mamma. He fired three times at that parent with no better effect than to scare her. He is in a fair way to receive the just re-Ward of his unfilial marksmanship.

IT IS LIKE to be a wearisome thing to be a Grand Duke with a notional Czar for a father. Alexis, so we are told by a telegraphic ukase from St. Petersburg, has been commanded by his royal sire to set out upon another tramp round the big belled world.

THERE are, in the subjoined, some evidences of returning sanity in Congress regarding the newspaper mail and the franking of pub. docs.:

The House Committee on Postoffice and Postroads held a meeting this morning in which the bill prepared by the Sub-Committee with reference to delivering public documents through the mails was adopted. The bill agreed upon in substance authorizes public documents to be sent free through the mails, a free exchange of newspapers and free delivery of newspapers in counties wherein published. In distributing public documents a strap is provided to be placed in the custody of an officer of the House to be attached to every book, pamphlet and document sent from either branch of Congress, and to prevent the abuse of power by unauthorized parties it is also necessary for the name of the member sending the document to be appended to the package. The committee also agreed to report favorably on a bill looking to the free delivery of seeds from the Agricultural Department, and will no doubt regulate their distribution by similar means provided for sending public documents.

SHERIFF KING arrested a young man last Tuesday, on suspicion that he was the person who killed his brother-in-law at Lamolite Valley last week. He proved however to be the wrong man and was turned loose. Some one suggested to him that there might be a chance for damages for false imprisonment. Not much! said he. "I got a square meal this morning the first I have had for over a week."—Humboldt Register.

THE VIRGINIUS.

The last returns from that troublesome blockade runner, the Virginus, are in the following telegram:

HAVANA, December 12.
The steamship Virginus was towed out of the harbor of Havana at 4 1/2 o'clock this morning by a tugboat. She was escorted by the Spanish man-of-war Arabella la Catholica. The tugboat returned to the city at 7 o'clock. The destination of the Virginus is supposed to be Key West.

The steamer Virginus has gone to the port of Bahia, 160 miles west of Havana, where she will be delivered by the Spanish man-of-war to a vessel of the United States Navy. Captain-General Jovellar has given the necessary orders for the transfer of the Virginus prisoners to Santiago de Cuba to an American man-of-war to-day. The Captain-General is certain that his orders will be carried out and the men delivered at the appointed time.

SCALPED BY A SQUAW.—The following incident of the recent battle between the Sioux and Ponca Indians at the Ponca Agency, is told by the Sioux City (Iowa) Journal:

A Sioux brave had gained the shelter of one of the buildings, from which position he was enabled to fire at his foes from short range. While he was standing just at the corner of the building loading his gun, a Ponca squaw rushed from the house, and before the Sioux could defend himself gave him a slashing cut across the abdomen with a huge knife. As she struck him the Sioux involuntarily bent forward, and just at that instant the squaw grabbed him by the hair, and with a savage stroke of the knife scalped him. Shaking her gory trophy aloft, and giving a shrill cry of defiance, she darted back into the building in safety, followed by a dozen rifle balls from as many Sioux, who from a distance saw the result of the sortie. The effect was perfectly maddening upon the Sioux, for to have one of their warriors scalped by a squaw was a disgrace which could only be wiped out by the blood of the entire band of Poncas. They rushed for the buildings, but were met with a fire which laid many of them low, and the rest retired to a safe distance without having injured their foes. The act of the squaw seemed to inspire the Poncas, and, flanking from a window the scalp of the unfortunate Sioux, they uttered yells of derision and contempt which nearly drove the Sioux frantic.

As illustrative of the demoralizing effects of the Boreal blizzards of Minnesota upon its newspaper conductors, we extract the following from the Minneapolis Times of Dec. 5:

In addition to her frolicsome avancements, sportive grizzles, and winsome Pintos, Nevada now has another attraction in a hilarious volcano that has just opened shop and commenced active business. It is even within the range of possibilities that the editor of the Carson Appeal, who delights to dwell upon the drawbacks of a Minnesota winter, may soon be cheerfully shaken up by a double-headed earthquake. There is nothing like living in a sociable country, and we cannot do better than recommend Nevada as a place of permanent residence for persons of a lively, vivacious turn of mind.

THE amiable Salarian who injects its regular supply of capscicum and ginger into the Reno Crescent, comments thus upon the impersonal lion who does the political roaring for the Gold Hill News:

We desire to call the attention of the readers of the Gold Hill News, to the fact that the real editor of that paper, as the representative of the Liberal Republicans of Nevada, voted for Horace Greeley in the National Convention, and for Greeley Electors at the polls, and farther, that he has not changed his political views; neither believes a word of what he writes himself, nor expects his readers to. The prostitution of Dolly Varden brains to such base uses, is a shame and a disgrace; but the man must have bread; his labors are of necessity, not of love. Let us remember that his defection from principle is only seeming, and make the allowance therefore.

THE SACRAMENTO CAUCUSES.—From the telegrams of the Chronicle of last evening we get the following returns from the Democratic Caucuses in Sacramento:

Sacramento, Dec. 12.—The Republican caucus met last night and adjourned till Monday. In the Democratic caucus Hagar, Temple, Wallace Booth, Farley, Findley and ex-Governor Downey were put in nomination. Downey withdrew, after thanks for the honor. Temple did not speak. Hagar was not present. The others made speeches, and the caucus adjourned at midnight without a ballot. To-day things are lively around the Capitol.

The Democrats seem confident. It is conceded that the Republicans are gone in, but McShaffer and Cole still try to put on bold faces, though the mockery is visible. Cole has been buzzing considerable. No resolution to bind members of the Democratic caucus to the nominee was offered, as it was feared that such a course might cause disaffection in the ranks. Balloting will commence to-night, but it is hardly thought that a choice will be made till Monday.

The Record this morning has the following: In the course of his speech, Wallace stated that members of the Independent party had offered to support him for the short term if he would use his influence to procure a Democrat vote for Booth for the long term. He declined. This action, it is thought by some, will cause a loss of some votes for Booth. Wallace, in a letter to Booth, denies the statement in toto. He was solicited by members of the Independent party to become a candidate to succeed Casserly. No such bargain was ever offered or made.
